

Image-defined geometry, not calibrated boundary truth. Windows require 100% valid pixels; central texture remains a background-risk region.